

Associate Profile

Simon Grayson

Simon is an outstanding Learning and Development professional with extensive and varied international experience. He works closely with Managers, Leaders and Teams at all levels to deliver real business improvement.

As a commercially astute creator of solutions he delivers various interventions designed to enable people and teams to achieve extraordinary results. His energy and motivation is born out of his passion to see and experience other people maximising their potential. He is a highly confident, adaptable, and results oriented person with a proven track record across highly competitive industries including international sport, automotive, retail, and technology.

Simon understands the competitive advantage available to organisations that access the potential in their human resources and has worked alongside many companies ensuring the alignment of their people strategies with the company's vision.

Qualifications/Experience

- NLP Practitioner
- Insights Practitioner
- Coached in several world cups
- Developing global leadership and management development programmes
- Mentored a musician and co-produced and album
- Coached PGA tour golfers
- Worked with an English Professional Football Club

Specialist Areas

- Management and Leadership Development
- Team Development
- Behavioural Management techniques
- NLP
- 360° Feedback
- Mentoring

"I really enjoyed the training and the way you handled it. You are an inspirational Coach and were able to reflect your energy on me during the day. As an un-experienced Manager I have a lot of problems with scheduling and structuring my day and I feel I will be able to use the techniques I picked up from the exercise"

