

Coach Profile

Alwin Nieuwenstein

Alwin is a coach, trainer and organization developer with a focus on how people and organisations can take responsibility in their own development. Starting with where the coachee and the organization would like to be in future, Alwin supports the coachee and organization to define the steps needed to get there (options and actions). Alwin easily connects vision and strategy with concrete actions and results. His ability to connect (by listening and questioning) makes it easy for people to talk to him.

In his professional career as a coach, manager and entrepreneur, he has refined his coaching skills. Alwin ensures that coaching results in the coachee realising substantial personal and professional goals; and the organisation experiences the full benefit of the insight and development. He has experience in working in Automotive, Construction and Engineering industries in addition to (semi) public organizations (local and national government, housing association, childcare).

Qualifications/Experience

- International Coaching Federation (ICF) Credential: Professional Certified Coach (PCC)
- Full accredited coaching training program (ACTP): Certified Professional Coach - part 2- PCC/Senior Practitioner
- Excellent Leadership from Centre for Excellence in Leadership

- Master in Innovation Sciences
- Major in Environmental and Building Technology

Specialist Areas

- Coaching in organisational change
- Experience in; building industry, social housing, automotive industry, government and customer engagement

"Alwin brings the ability to connect and interact. He does this by being able to delve into the matter, to build trust and, finally, to give his clear and bright vision. Alwin does not impose his own ideas, but makes it come from people themselves. For me this form of coaching has maximised my output and creativity. Finally, Alwin is a pleasant and trustworthy person whom I have had the pleasure of working with."

STROOMVERSNELLING
KOOPWONINGEN

